ORATORICAL ASSOCIATION.

Organizes with Emmett Wilson, of Marianna, President.

At an enthusiastic meeting of students held in the chapel Tuesday evening, September 15, the Stetson University Oratorical Association was organized. It is now ready to enter upon the work of the year with a large and representative membership, and the interest which prevails among the student body assures success.

A meeting was held on September 28th for the purpose of organizing the association, but the entire evening was occupied in the discussion of parliamentary matters and nothing was accomplished. The second meeting, presided over by Mr. Butler, was more successful, however, and the constitution presented by the committee was adopted with few amendments. A recess was taken to give the members an opportunity to sign the constitution, after which nominations were received and voted on for permanent officers of the association, who were elected as follows:

President—Emmett Wilson.

Vice-President—Miss E. D. Remmers.

Secretary and Treasurer—George Calhoun.

By-laws were then adopted by the association, after which adjournment was taken until the next regular meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, November 10, at 6:30 p.m., in the auditorium.

The work of promoting oratory in the different departments of the University will be entered into at once, and it is safe to predict that the year will be one of the most successful in this respect in the history of the school.

Kent Club.

The first meeting of the Kent Club for the present school year was called to order at 8 o'clock p.m., Saturday, Oct. 3, by N. G. VanSant, who was elected at the last meeting before commencement.

Before taking the chair President VanSant, in his pleasing style, made some forcible and well received remarks on the advantages of the club. He argued with much strength and clearness that a lawyer must be a public speaker if he would attain greatest eminence. That good speakers, born with the gift, are rare. That the powers and graces of oratory are not limited to those naturally endowed. That a lawyer's education is but half complete if he fails to develop his powers as a public speaker. That the purpose of the Kent Club was to promote oratory and its kindred accomplishments.

All of last year's members except the graduating class and Willis and Frye answered the roll-call. Afterwards fourteen handsome juniors were escorted forward and enrolled as members with the circumstance and ceremony befitting their important stations in college life. The old members were called upon and responded with short speeches. As is customary, there was no regular program, it being the first meeting of the year.

The club met in its spacious hall set apart for its use. During vacation an elegant new rug had been secured which blended well with other furnishings.

Since this meeting, owing to the generosity of President VanSant and other friends, the walls of the hall have been beautifully tinted and several other rugs have been added.

The Kent Club hall is unequalled by that of any debating or literary society in the State. To the liberality and untiring energy of its present executive officer this great progress is due.

The club has met weekly since the opening meeting, and interesting programs consisting of debates, orations, declamations, readings, recent court decisions and reports of current events have been rendered.

At its next meeting on Saturday, Oct. 31, 9:30 p.m., the club will celebrate the opening of its refurbished and newly appointed hall, to which a limited number of invitations have been issued.

Already the members are discussing and anticipating a debate with their old friends of the literary department. Now that a soothing balm has been applied to the bleeding wounds of both "laws" and "lits," the debate should be arranged at an early date.

Stetson's Eleven.

The football squad which is to uphold the honor of Stetson on the gridiron during the coming season, left yesterday afternoon for Tampa, where the first game of the year will be played with the Tampa team this afternoon. The boys were in excellent condition and were confident of victory.

This game will be followed by others which will be strictly intercollegiate, and it is hoped that the close of the season will see Stetson where she ought to be—at the head of the list. The Jacksonville Times-Union has offered a handsome trophy cup for the college team which will win the most games this season. Stetson must have it, and if grit and college spirit count for anything, that cup will sit in Elizabeth Hall.

The team this year is under the charge of Prof. Colton, one of the finest football coaches who ever came into the State, and under his supervision has been working steadily since the opening of school. Stetson will have the lightest team this year that she has ever put on the field, and a large percentage of the men are new. The members of the former team who are back this year are, Botts, tackle; Stanley, center; Clow, end; Pounds, half, and Lenfesty, guard. Duncan, tackle on the '02 team, has returned and is playing his old position. This leaves the following positions to be filled: guard, end, quarter, and two halves.

The new material is very light indeed, and the men now on the first team will average less than 150 pounds. There is no heavier material in sight; the second team is also woefully light, and it is almost impossible to give the 'Varsity eleven beneficial practice. The only way in which a winning team may be developed from such material, is to cultivate speed and endurance to that point where they will offset the lack of weight. This is a very difficult matter, indeed, as is shown by the practice games this year. The team works slowly and does not block the opposing players; the runner does not follow his interference, and there is a general lack of speed. The boys are working hard, but unless the heavy men in school come out and help, Stetson's team will have little weight behind it. The task before the team is a herculean one, and every man should come out and push.

The team will, during the coming season, go up against some good elevens. Some of these will be heavier than ours, but we have a chance of overcoming them by fast, snappy work, and if the boys will play with heart and soul they hold the results of the season in their hands.

Let it be remembered that, though other schools may introduce professional players and unworthy tricks, Stetson stands, and will continue to do so, for all that is fair, clean and manly in athletics. Realizing this, and backed by the strong college spirit manifested by every student, the team can and will uphold the honor of their school.

Rah! for the football team.

In Honor of Mrs. Sears.

The popularity enjoyed by Mr. F. D. Sears and his charming bride, was attested by the large number which were present on the evening of Oct. 12th, at the reception tendered them by the ladies of Chaudoin Hall.

The large parlors, resplendent in electric lights and exquisite floral decorations, was a fitting foil for the representative gathering present, and the attractive gowns which were worn.

The receiving party was stationed just inside the main drawingroom, and consisted of Miss Bush, Miss Palmer and Mr. and Mrs. Sears. Miss Bush was attired in a dainty gown of white swiss. Miss Palmer also wore white, and was most charming. Mrs. Sears was very attractive in an exquisite gown of yellow chiffon trimmed in black lace, which was most becoming to her brunette beauty.

Miss Vincent, Miss Blanding, Miss Wood, Miss Wilson, Miss Thompson, Miss Calhoun, Miss Spence and Miss Crawford assisted in entertaining the guests.

A dainty repast was enjoyed, and altogether, the affair was one of the most recherche ever given in Chaudoin Hall.

Chaudoin's Basketball Team.

If one could take a peep into the Gym between eight forty-five and nine thirty, evenings, an amusing sight would be seen. However, it is by no means a joke to the players, who meet there every night for a fierce conflict. The line-up for the teams is as follows:

Razzles.—Miss Webster, captain; Miss Powell, Miss Wilder, Miss Porter, Miss Shaw, Miss Simmons, Miss Edenfield, Miss Booth.

Dazzles.—Miss Remmers, captain; Miss Emery, Miss Jackman, Miss Hill, Miss Rich, Miss Brock, Miss Patterson.

Both teams are in excellent shape, under the able management of their respective captains, and the games are hard and evenly fought battles. The Dazzles have, so far, been victorious. The girls down town are being coached, and when they are in readiness the Dormitory teams will meet them, and although the Razzle-Dalles are playing pretty fast ball, the town girls say that it will be a case of "When Greek Meets Greek."

A Happy Event.

On Thursday, September 3rd, Miss Carolyn Harriman was married to Mr. Charles Otis Lord. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's mother in San Juan, Porto Rico, and was attended by about twenty friends of the happy pair. Miss Harriman was a graduate of the Academic class of '00 and had many friends at Stetson. For the past three years she has been living in San Juan, which will be the future home of the young couple. Mr. Lord is a New Yorker, and has a government position in the island. The Collegiate extends hearty congratulations.

Married.

Mr. Alden H. Hadley and Miss Bertha McCoy, both of Indiana, were married on Thursday, the twenty-eighth of October, at Mr. Hadley's home in Monrovia, Ind. Mr. Hadley is an alumnus of Stetson University, having received the degree of A.B., in 1890. He has purchased a home in Melbourne, Fla., to which he will bring his bride for the winter. Mr. Hadley's many friends here offer congratulations.

Notice.

Several copies of the Collegiate are mailed this week to students and friends of the University outside of DeLand, and to these we extend a cordial invitation for your subscription. The Weekly Collegiate is part of the life and being of Stetson University, and we hope the friends of the University will help to make it a big success.

Halloween.

Invitations have been issued by the Chaudoin girls to all dormitory students and teachers for a Halloween frolic to be held in the Gym Saturday night. All are looking forward to this with endless pleasure, as one will be able to ascertain all particulars regarding their future lives, fortunes, etc., from a noted fortune-teller who will be in evidence.

Dance Last Night.

A dancing club has been organized by some of the students in the College department, assisted by their friends over in the city, and will give regular dances every other week at the Putnam House. The first dance of the season was held last night and quite a crowd of the society people of DeLand were present. Elegant refreshments were served and all voted it a most successful entertainment.

Vesper Service Sunday Oct. 25.

A large and appreciative audience assembled in the auditorium at Vespers Sunday to hear Prof. Daugustaus address. He prefaced it with the very apt remark that he would "like to speak a few words before he said anything." His talk was clear and convincing, and much enjoyed by every one.

The musical program consisted of a beautiful organ prelude by Prof. Rodgers, and the anthem, "Sweetly Breathes the Lyres Above," by the vesper choir.

To the Students.

The Weekly Collegiate is run at great expense and the editorial staff will do all in their power to give you one of the brightest and best of college weeklies, if you will only come to their aid in the matter of advertisers.

The business management has called upon nearly every merchant in DeLand, and we are not satisfied with the advertisements we have. There is not a merchant in the city that should not give us his patronage and if the students will watch the advertisers of the Collegiate and carry their trade to these stores we will have no trouble about the other merchants coming to us. Patronize those who patronize us.

SALUTATORY.

All hail! students, faculty, friends of the University! We greet you in a new form this year, and with name a bit altered. "The Weekly Collegiate" sounds well, doesn't it? We have felt for some years the need of new life in our school paper, and at last we have hit upon a tonic which, we think, will invigorate the publication at once. The remedy is merely an increased amount of social life, gained by an outing each Saturday. On Saturday morning, you know, the air is fresh, picnicy and care-free. There is no atmosphere of learning or bookishness about Saturday; neither, therefore, will our newspaper be of a solemn, careworn nature. This week, indeed, being its first appearance among you, it may not obtain to the perfection of an old stayer, but have patience! A short time works wonders.

We do not expect to be taken as a model for the papers of the greater colleges; neither should you judge us by their standards. We are young—but we are strong in the purpose to succeed; and with the help of Stetson students we shall succeed.

Some one may ask, "What do you mean by success in this case?" We anticipate the question by the answer: Success with us means the publication of a newspaper which shall be of the students for the students—a paper which shall be fair and impartial in all University rivalry, newsy and full of the information which every student needs concerning the life of the University.

DEATH OF MRS. SHARP.

As the students gather for the opening of school there is an undercurrent of sadness in their greetings; for the death of Mrs. Sharp, which occurred during the summer, has left an aching void in the hearts of teachers and students at Stetson. Those who had the privilege of knowing her as a teacher and friend will hold the memory of their intercourse with her as a priceless treasure. All who came in contact with her loved her for her gentle ways and sunny disposition, while those who knew her best felt her strength of character and the sweetness of her womanly nature. Her home life was ideal. To see her with her children was to realize the true beauty of motherhood. But though a mother, she preserved all her girlishness and her delight in the small joys of life. She was one of the few who unite the soul of the artist with the heart of a child. We all mourn with Mr. Sharp the loss of one of whom it may be truly said, "None knew her but to love her, none named her but to praise."

Re-Union of Class '02.

The members of the class which graduated from the Academy in '02, and a few of their friends enjoyed a re-union at Blue Lake Friday evening, October 23, which was a most enjoyable occasion.

The party went out to the lake early in the evening and took possession of the Aquatic Club House, where dancing and other amusements were enjoyed for several hours. A dainty supper was spread and the viands discussed with great enjoyment, after which the start for home was made and a most pleasant evening brought to a close.

Miss Payne, as chaperone, contributed materially to the pleasure of the occasion. Those present were, Misses Fuller, Harriet Fuller, Hamlin, Holm, Allen, Blackman and Manville; and Messrs. Hamlin, Butler, Windsor, Mickle, Ed Mickle, Calhoun and Knox.

Public Tonight.

The Kent Club will hold public exercises in their new rooms in Science Hall tonight. The speaking will begin promptly at 7 p.m., and the meeting will adjourn in time for the members and visitors to take in the several Halloween parties.

The following is the program for tonight:

Declamation—N. G. Van Sant.
Reading—H. E. Merryday.
Oration—W. B. Crawford.
Debate—Resolved, That an income tax is a desirable method of taxation.
Affirmative—Geo. W. Conover, J. Hall Brumsey.
Negative—J. T. Butler, Fred Fee.

A Serious Accident.

Roy Hamlin and Hal Cox were on Saturday the victims of a serious accident. While riding together on their bicycles with arms locked, their wheels collided and they were thrown violently to the pavement. Mr. Cox was only bruised slightly, but Mr. Hamlin was rendered unconscious for a few moments, and received cuts on the face and head which required several stitches. He is improving rapidly, however, and is able to attend his classes.

Stetson Literary Society.

There will be no meeting of this society tonight as several of the members are off with the football team, and the further fact that several Halloween celebrations are on for tonight.

Echoes from Music Hall.

Mr. Roy Brown is gladly welcomed again this year in musical and other circles.

Miss Nora Davis and Miss Eva Powell are taking violin lessons of Mrs. Rosa.

Mrs. E. L. Powe, of DeLand, is a valuable addition to the ranks of vocal students at Music Hall.

Mr. Hal Cox is the new tenor in the vesper choir. His brother, Howard Cox, is taking piano lessons.

Problem.—Why does Prof. Rodgers look so often at his watch and then gaze with a far-away look toward the north?

Miss Pearl Spaulding has the position of secretary to the director of music. She is also taking a musical course.

Miss Lucena Spaulding, who spent the summer in Colorado, is now taking a post-graduate course in voice at Stetson.

Miss Lula Lutz, of Wabash, Indiana, who attended Stetson last year, has returned to continue her studies in vocal music and also in organ.

Miss Katharine A. Crawford, after a pleasant summer of study and travel in Europe, has returned to DeLand much benefitted by her vacation.

A large number of students are taking music this year, and under the efficient instruction of Prof. Rodgers, Miss Crawford, Mrs. Farris and Mrs. Rosa, some good progress will be made.

An unusually large and intelligent class of sight-singing pupils assembled on Tuesdays and Fridays in DeLand Hall. Solo work seems to be a specialty. Mr. George Calhoun is especially distinguishing himself.

The class in harmony, while not supposed to be of the "finny tribe," are just now so "wrapped up in scales" that at first glance one would almost imagine them to be such. The Misses Lloyd, Sparkman, Jennings and Spaulding, also Mr. Brown, are among those taking this study.

Art Department.

Miss Edenfield, Miss Linquist and Miss Fuller are back at work this year.

Miss Josephine Lindley has just returned from a sketching trip through England.

Miss Louise Lord, formerly a pupil in the Art Department at Lake City, is with us this year.

Prof. Sharp continues to have charge of the class in free hand drawing, in connection with the Technological course.

Fred Hill, who had several years of work under Prof. Sharp, is now chief designer for Nelson, Matter & Co., at Detroit, Mich.

Some of the new workers in the studio this year are, Miss Mary E. Reeve, Miss Ruby E. Jennings, Miss Eva Powell and Miss Jackman.

Stephen Blake, Miss Helen Manville and Miss Louise McKinney, all have promised sketches to show as a result of their summer work.

Archibald Barreille, formerly a Steasonite, now has charge of the illustration department of the American School of Correspondence at Philadelphia.

In the Studio.—Miss F.—"What awful odors come up from the chemistry rooms."

Miss J.—"Well, there's one consolation, if they have an explosion we'll get a start in the right direction."

Prof. W. A. Sharp was engaged throughout the summer at Mont Eagle, Tenn., in connection with Miss Vanderpool, of the Chicago Art Institute, and Mr. Sherwood, President of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs. The art managers wish to obtain the same faculty for next year.

Extra copies of the Collegiate mailed for 5 cents per copy. Leave names and addresses of your friends with the business manager at the Collegiate office, in Elizabeth Hall. Open every morning at chapel.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Tylander, of Eau Gallie, Fla., are the proud parents of a baby girl. Mr. Tylander is a graduate of the Stetson Academy, class of '98.

Send the Collegiate to your friends at home.

Some Costly Saws.

Probably the most expensive saws in use anywhere in the world are those in the factories of Pennsylvania, where the various articles are manufactured of slate. In one of these factories there are three hundred horizontal saws, twelve feet in length, each of which is furnished with seventy-five cutting diamonds, each saw being worth five thousand dollars. The slate land which furnishes the material for these costly saws to work upon was once so little valued that the tract upon which the famous Chapman quarry in Pennsylvania is situated was sold for a pint of whiskey. Its subsequent owners have taken millions of dollars from the land.

The most valuable slate deposits in the world are found in the central and eastern parts of Pennsylvania. In the neighborhood of the Pennsylvania quarries there are houses whose walls are entirely of slate. The blocks of which they are made are smoothly sawed, and are certainly most substantial. When slate is blasted in the quarries the rough slabs are taken to the shanties of the "splitters." The stone forms naturally the layers, and the "splitter" following the grain, or "ribbon," with his large chisel, separates the blocks into strips. Then these strips are passed through a trimming machine, where by the blow of a heavy knife they are cut into rectangular "shingles." Then they are piled up into "squares," ready to be used for roofing purposes.

When slate is cut up for use in other ways the procedure differs. The huge horizontal saw, with its scores of diamonds, in the factory, is called into play; it is lowered upon one of the blocks of slate by a ratchet at the rate of a quarter an inch a minute. The saw would cut through iron or steel at the same rate. The workmen play a stream of water upon the slate to keep it cool and wash the dust from the cut. After the sawing the block is planed by being moved back and forth by machinery, under a firmly fixed chisel. It is afterward polished much as marble and granite are. The value of the slate quarries runs into the millions.

Ozone and Tuberculosis.

London's Oxygen Hospital held its annual general meeting shortly after its successful ball, at which the air was purified with ozone. It has a record of eight years' work, during the last three of which it has tackled the overwhelming problem of tuberculosis. It is now treating consumptives with "Alpine air" even in London, by putting them into plate glass cubicles, to which air is led by a fan after careful modification. It is first filtered through cotton wool—cheap and efficient—which frees it of every microbe and every particle of dust, so that the patient's lungs are not subjected to a constant accumulation of solid particles. It then passes through calcium chloride, which absolutely dries it; and, lastly, a clock connected with an electrical battery generates ozone for five minutes of every quarter of an hour. Ozone is a more powerful form of oxygen present in Alpine and country air, but soon destroyed in towns. They had had the very worst cases sent to the hospital. There had been such cases as had been submitted to all kinds of treatment, and still had not recovered. During the year eighty-eight cases had been treated at the hospital. Of these fifty had been discharged cured and thirteen greatly relieved.

An Artful Passenger.

At one of our holiday resorts during the season a coach used to run daily between the town and some ruins a few miles out, stopping at an inn for dinner. The landlord of the inn used to make a tidy sum (which he shared with the coachman) by doing the passengers out of their meal. A good repast was provided, but the passengers were hardly allowed to be seated before the signal was given to start.

One day, after the coach had departed, the landlord discovered a traveler still enjoying a hearty meal. He grew uneasy as he saw the eatables disappearing under his very eyes, but far more so when he noticed that all the silver spoons and forks were missing.

On the traveler describing a suspicious looking character among the passengers, a bicyclist was hastily despatched to bring back the coach. On its arrival, outwalked the accuser, who, instead of helping to identify the thief took his seat on the coach, and, addressing the furious landlord, coldly remarked:

"Thanks, for my good feed. You'll find them spoons and forks in the coffee-pot. Right away, driver."

Books and Magazines at Allen's Pharmacy.

Miss Wilder, of Plant City, is among the new arrivals.

An addition to Superintendent Turnquist's house is being built.

Miss Booth, of Springfield, Ill., is an addition to life in the University.

Miss Heim has been quite indisposed for some time past, but is improving now.

Mrs. Remmers was the guest of Miss Remmers at dinner one night last week.

Miss Mayme Blackman left Monday for Illinois, where she will make her future home.

Misses Ada Hill, Eleanor Morrish and Ethel Webster are again residents of Chaudoin.

Miss Remmers is with us again, and Mrs. Remmers is at the home of Mrs. Oates, as usual.

Mr. Alec Slime, of Orlando, spent Wednesday and Thursday in DeLand, on his way to Daytona.

Miss Lord, an attractive young lady of Sarasota, has entered the University and is a resident of Chaudoin.

Miss Alice McKinney will entertain her many friends tonight with a "good old-fashioned" Halloween party.

Miss Bernice Alfred is a late arrival, coming to resume her studies in the third year of the Academy.

Miss Brock and Miss Mabel Brock, two charming young ladies of Bloomington, Ill., have enlisted for work.

J. B. S. U. Stationery at Allen's Pharmacy.

George Wythe Conover, of "the Bug," expects to take in the sights of the Carnival at Jacksonville next week.

Conover: Did you have any sort of a show, Happy, when you went to ask her father? Merryday: Oh, yes; the door.

A truce has been effected between "Plant City" and "Kruger," and there is no further trouble looked for in this direction.

Miss Emma York, after a pleasant summer spent in New York, is again with us, and is assisting with the office work.

School Supplies at Allen's Pharmacy.

Miss Merry, who was with us last year, is to remain in Jacksonville for the winter. Her presence here is greatly missed.

Messrs. Collier and Pope, members of Stetson's '03 football team, are now playing with the Jacksonville Light Infantry team.

Miss Ruth Rich, of Jacksonville, has entered Chaudoin, as have several of the Hamilton young ladies, Misses May, Rogero and others.

Miss Emery is looking forward to a brief visit to Jacksonville during Carnival week, and will be the guest of Miss McLane and Miss Stripling.

Mr. Bassett, who has been suffering from phosphorous burns on both his hands, is getting along splendidly, and is now attending classes regularly.

Mrs. Wilson, of Tampa, stopped off in DeLand on her return from the North, for a day's visit with her daughter, Miss Wilson, in Chaudoin Hall.

Toilet requisites at Allen's Pharmacy.

Mrs. Frank Dana Sears, the charming wife of our popular Dean of Stetson Hall, is with us this year, and is an omst decided acquisition to life in the University.

Rev. D. J. Blocker preached at Apopka last Sunday. Mr. Blocker now preaches at Sanford twice a month, at Apopka once, and at Winter Garden once a month.

Miss Emery is at her desk in the office again, after a delightful summer, part of which was spent with Mrs. Arthur Heath, in Chicago, and with Miss Chenault, in Kentucky.

Chaudoin Hall is again the scene of studious industry. It is filled with new and old students, and all are in the best of spirits and are looking forward to a year of work and pleasure.

Mr. Clarkson, for several years a pioneer resident of h-ell, in Stetson Hall, has moved and now occupies a c-ell in the same building. The laundry room is now located in h-ell.

Miss Flanders and sister, Miss Marguerite, who were last year popular students of the University, are now residents at Port Orange. Their departure is regretted by many friends.

Huyler's Candles at Allen's Pharmacy.

Misses Bush, Palmer, Wilson, Thompson, Crawford, Calhoun, Blanding and Wood are some of last year's teachers who have returned to their respective duties, after a summer of pleasure and work.

Dean Sears conducted vespers Sunday, the 11th. Every one enjoyed his talk, which was, as usual, strong, forceful (and short). The usual excellent musical program was also rendered.

Said Miss Bush to one of the "L" girls, the other night: "What caused all that noise in the 'L' last night?" Said the girl, tremblingly, as though she still beheld the dreaded creature: "Why, Miss Bush, it was a Rat!" Miss Bush walked off without further comment.

Messrs. Fee and Staley would like to bid, through the columns of the Collegiate, for the conveyance of all notices to be read in chapel. Fee would prefer those sent by the ladies, as usual.

We are pleased to have the smiling, jovial countenance of George Calhoun among us again. After his experience on the reportorial staff of the Tampa papers, he is a valuable addition to the Collegiate staff.

Miss Bessie Porter has returned to the University. Miss Hattie Mai Porter was married the last of September to Mr. Collier, of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Miss Bessie remained at home to be present at the happy event.

Ft. Rens at Allen's Pharmacy.

In the Chemistry Class.—Professor: Now what do you think would happen if the air were oxygen and was suddenly to catch fire? Wouldn't we all burn? Mr. Walker: From the shade of green of some in this class it is doubtful.

In Caesar—Professor: Do you all remember now, when to accent the peanut? Young Lady: Professor Baldwin, will you please explain to me what you mean by the peanut in Latin? I've heard you say a lot about the Latin peanut.

Professor Colton, formerly of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, has been added to the faculty as assistant to Dean Payne. Mr. Colton is a football coach of ability and practical experience, and he has had charge of the team since his arrival.

Friends of Louise Foote and Edith Searle will be interested to know that the former is attending Mrs. Somers' School for Girls (Mt. Vernon Seminary) in Washington, D. C., and the latter is in a preparatory school for Smith College, in Northampton, Mass.

Social Hour last Friday night was devoted to the football men. A prize contest was indulged in, the feature of it being the finding of "Hidden Colleges." Mr. Hal Cox was the fortunate winner of the prize, an attractive Stetson pillow.

Said an old resident of Chaudoin to a new arrival who had been attending a Convent, "Miss—, aren't the rules at the Convent very strict and very hard to live up to?" (New Arrival), "Why, no indeed, it is quite like this University. We have a great deal of freedom." (?)

Kodak Supplies at Allen's Pharmacy.

Professor Rogers, an accomplished musician of Philadelphia, has taken charge of the music department. Prior to his coming to Stetson, Professor Rogers was a teacher in the famous Art Conservatory of Music. He is a musician of marked ability and technique and the music department cannot fail to prosper under his direction.

Stetson is always ready for innovations. The latest is the college beginning Greek class. This class, under the guidance of Prof. C. Louise McKinney, is making rapid progress in its wrestling with Greek hieroglyphics. At present they have reached the critical point where they have to translate such pathetic statements as, "The little house was bad," and blood-curdling sentences to the effect that "the little knife, with a beautiful uproar, cut the fearful wild beast under the long wagon."

Professor Baldwin, after several years' residence in Stetson Hall, has moved down town, and the dormitory has lost one of its most popular occupants. The many friends of Professor Baldwin hope that he will pay frequent visits to his old "stamping grounds."

Atlantic Coast Line, for Tampa, where they will play the first game of the season. A full account of the game will appear in next Saturday's issue of The Collegiate.

Chameleons in the Surf.

Taking chameleons in to bathe is a new fad which Atlantic City has developed.

Scores of girls have adopted it.

The scheme was worked by a girl who owned a chameleon that had grown lazy. She tried various ways of arousing it from its stupor and at last hit upon the idea of taking it out for a romp in the surf.

She was rewarded with an instantaneous change in the little lizard's demeanor. Just as soon as it heard the roll of the first breaker its skin went through a whirl of color changes. And when she gave it a ducking it produced a new shade of pink verging into yellow and green that she never knew it possessed.

Little time was lost in making known the discovery to others through the resort, and girls who had no chameleons bought them right off to see the ocean's effect on them.

"Oh, girls," cried one, as she held out her chameleon for inspection, "some water splashed into his eyes and he looks like a box of paint. I wonder if he is angry?"

One of Sherlock Holmes' Deductions

* Conan Doyle, creator of the famous detective, Sherlock Holmes, was asked why he did not open a detective agency and employ his shrewd devices in solving the entanglements of others.

"The knots which I have untied were of my own tying," said the author, tersely. "I'd fail in untying other persons' knots."

"Did you ever make a practical use of your power of deduction?"

To this query the author responded with:

"No; but on one occasion I believe I could have done so. I happened to step into a tailoring establishment where an unattractive individual was selecting material for a pair of trousers. A striped design was recommended. 'Not this. I have had enough of stripes. I am tired of them,' protested the customer.

"The manner in which the man referred to stripes convinced me that he was an ex-convict. To satisfy myself, I visited the prison, examined the photographs and was gratified to find my man's picture in the album."

Wedding Rings.

Among the the curiosities of wedding rings, it is on record that in the early days rings were made of rushes. Perhaps the most curious material used for rings required on an emergency is the case of one being hurriedly made by cutting it out of the finger of a glove, and another out of a visiting card. Many cases are on record of rings made of brass and iron being used, as also curtain rings and door keys being pressed into service at weddings. The Quakers and Swiss Protestants do not use rings at their marriage ceremonies. The Irish people have a strong objection to any but gold rings. In St. Kilda wedding rings are made of worsted. The women of the Upper Bayanzi on the Congo, wear their wedding rings around their necks. These rings are made of thick brass rods, which are made into great rings and strongly welded together. The more wealthy the husband the heavier the ring. In some cases they weigh thirty pounds.

Proverbs Up to Date.

Better swallow your good jests than lose your good friend.

Sweets are the uses of adversity, bitter uses of prosperity.

The rising generation owes much to the inventor of the alarm clock.

If vanity were a deadly disease, every undertaker would buy fast horses.

When the last trump sounds some woman will ask Gabriel to wait a minute.
